Bringing Great Artists and Great Audiences Together

Dear Friends,

Welcome to our 2026-27 Season!

A hallmark of San Francisco Performances for decades has been bringing great artists and great audiences together. Since 1979 our role has been to bring performers the world is watching right here to San Francisco, for concerts in intimate settings.

Audiences love the experience of being up-close to artists. And artists repeatedly tell us how much they appreciate San Francisco audiences, because we support their ability to connect on a very direct level, performing music they are especially excited about. It's a relationship based on a mutual and collective love of music. We trust our artists to share their personal musical journeys with us, and our artists trust our audiences to be enthusiastic and engaged fellow travelers.

But it goes deeper. Recent studies about the physiological effects of live music on audiences conducted by the Max Planck Society found that artists and audiences connect on a physical level. Those performing and attending live concerts often experience synchronized heart rates, decreased levels of stress, and increased brain activity. Anyone who attends concerts knows the emotional and psychological benefits of coming together to share live music. It makes us think, feel, and appreciate those around us and the gifts and work of those on stage.

This is especially important and necessary in our challenging and stressful times—our hearts beating together, our minds and spirits nourished and united as we enjoy experiences that honor and celebrate our shared humanity.

We invite you, our extraordinary audience, to join us and our exceptional variety of artists this season.

Melanie Smith
President

Thursday, May 6, 2027 | 7:30pm
 Herbst Theatre | $80/$70/$60 each

* The March 26th performance will feature a pre-concert lecture by Dr. Robert Greenberg, Music Historian-in-Residence at 6:30pm

Two hundred years after Ludwig Van Beethoven (1770–1827), San Francisco Performances' Artists-in-Residence the Esmé Quartet embarks on the first of a two-part survey of his complete Quartets.

Beethoven's String Quartets span the majority of his lifetime and work. Hearing them complete gives vibrant insight into his evolution and process as a composer, from early years to the end of his life, and eloquently demonstrates his significance as an icon of classical music. The Series launches with a pre-concert lecture by SF Performances Music Historian-in-Residence Robert Greenberg.

Part II of the series will be presented during the 2027–28 Season.

Philip Glass @90

Music of our time takes center stage as SF Performances' PIVOT Festival celebrates 12 years of living creators and performers and their work that has defined an era and redefined styles and genres. The San Francisco Chronicle has called PIVOT "ingeniously planned" for its insightful and incisive dives into the music of right now, right here.

This season, we honor and celebrate Philip Glass as he turns 90, exploring his work and legacy in three programs featuring world class artists who are renowned interpreters of Glass' work.

► Timo Andres | PIANO

Wednesday, January 27, 2027 | 7:30pm
Herbst Theatre | $75/$65/$55

For the opening night of PIVOT, Timo Andres creates a reflective musical dialogue in which works by composers present and past that mirror and are mirrored by a selection of Philip Glass' virtuosic, tour-de-force Etudes come together in a delightfully smart program.

PROGRAM

ANN SOUTHAM: Glass Houses No. 11
